I have 15 years of experience advising on English law-governed contracts in Russia in the sphere of Private Equity, Mergers & Acquisitions and Joint Ventures, predominantly involving CIS owners/founders and Russian businesses, including in the following sectors or markets in the CIS: Oil & Gas, telecoms, mining (metals and minerals), real estate (including in construction and development of office space, retail and in agricultural), banking, manufacturing (including tobacco products) and online retail.

I have worked on many high-value transactions involving both global companies and Russian majors.

Although not a specialist disputes lawyer, I have significant experience in certain closely-related matters, including dispute resolution and settlement negotiations in the pre-arbitration stage.

I have been directly involved in the drafting and negotiation, often in Russian, of English-law governed agreements (share purchase agreements, shareholders agreements, joint venture agreements, loan agreements, guarantees, options, memoranda, confidentiality agreements and term sheets) and frequently advised on alleged breaches of such agreements, the potential rights and liabilities, remedies available and relative likelihood of success of a claim.

I have been ranked in Chambers & Partners for over 10 years:

I would be ideally suited to an arbitration with a seat in Moscow relating to English law-governed agreements.
